

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A massaging tub includes a tub body, a spraying pipe, a water outlet pipe, a water pump, a circulation pipe, and a washing device. The washing device includes a connecting pipe, and a switch valve. Thus, the clean water 5 can flow into the spraying pipe by operation of the switch valve to flush the dirt contained in the spraying pipe, so that the spraying pipe is kept clean constantly. In addition, the spraying pipe is substantially arc-shaped and is bent downward, so that the dirt contained in the spraying pipe can be flushed outward rapidly and completely.